

CARMEN MATEU
YOUNG ARTIST EUROPEAN AWARD
Opera and Dance

SECOND EDITION

Presentation of the Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award Opera and Dance

This award was created by the Fundació Castell de Peralada (Peralada Castle Foundation) with the same objective as the Peralada Castle Festival: to share a love of and passion for music, opera and dance.

Thirty-four years ago Carmen Mateu created the Peralada Festival, conceived as an exciting musical adventure and now consolidated as an essential cultural fixture and a reference point both nationally and internationally. With the same spirit, in 2019 came the Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award for Opera and Dance. Along with the annual summer festival programme, we believe that it will be the best way of ensuring the continuity of Carmen Mateu's tenacious work as a patron and her firm commitment to excellence.

The Suqué Mateu family, who represent the Fundació Castell de Peralada, are determined to continue their mother's endeavours and have created this award to honour her memory.

The Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award for Opera and Dance has therefore been established with the aim of being a cultural leader and reference point in promoting and enhancing the prestige of the disciplines of opera and dance in Europe, recognising the trajectory of young artists in order to contribute to the development of their careers.

The first edition of the Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award for Opera and Dance centred on the category of Dance, specifically for the discipline of the Classical and Neo-Classical Ballerina. María Pagés, Tamara Rojo and Julio Bocca formed the jury responsible for awarding the prize to the young ballerina Maria Khoreva, first soloist at the Mariinsky Theatre in Saint Petersburg.

The Peralada Castle Private Foundation receives support from the Opera Europa and European Festival Association (EFA) in disseminating the award.

Second Edition of the Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award

The second edition of the award centred on the category of Opera, specifically for the discipline of the Composer. The announcement of the start of this year's Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award for Opera and Dance will be made on 27th November 2020 to coincide with the start of the period in which nominations can be received, which ends on 28th February 2021.

The Carmen Mateu Young Artist European Award brings with it prize money of 30,000 euros which is given as a commission to compose a 'pocket opera' for between 2 and 5 soloists and an instrumental group of between 3 and 7 musicians in accordance with artistic direction from Peralada Castle Festival. The resulting piece will be presented at the 2023 edition of the festival and subsequently performed at Barcelona's Gran Teatre del Liceu and Madrid's Teatro Real, as co-producers of the commissioned work.
